ATTENTION NEWS/HEALTH EDITORS:

St. Joseph's Health Centre's Wayne Ozanne Honoured by the Canadian Association of Pathologists

TORONTO, March 28, 2007 - St. Joseph's Health Centre's very own Wayne Ozanne, Chief Technologist, Pathology, is the 2007 recipient of the Canadian Association of Pathologists (CAP) Medical Technologist/Technician Award for Continuing Professional Development.

This award is provided by the Canadian Association of Pathologists to a Medical Laboratory Technologist/Technician, in recognition of his or her outstanding contribution to continuing professional development in the area of medical laboratory practice. This is a national award and the CAP only acknowledges one recipient each year in this category.

A letter from the President of the CAP stated that, "The CAP Awards Committee voted Wayne to receive the award due to his varied experiences in delivering continuing education to MLTs in Ontario, Canada, the USA and Trinidad. He was also involved as a Symposium Chair for the National Society for Histotechnology (NSH)."

On behalf of all the staff, physicians and volunteers at St. Joseph's, congratulations Wayne on this great achievement.
