St. Joseph's Health Centre Is looking for volunteers to participate on the Women's Population Panel

As part of the Health Centre's Patient, Family and Community engagement strategy, the Women's Population Panel provides a unique forum for dialogue among Health Centre staff, community agency representatives and health care consumers, all focused on enhancing women's centered care in this community. The Women's Population Panel meets once each month to discuss and consider issues of relevance to women in our community.

The Women's Population Panel is looking for interested volunteers who:

- Enjoy working as part of a team are willing to share their knowledge & ideas
- Live or work in the St. Joseph's Health Centre catchment area of south-west Toronto
- Are familiar with services available to women at St. Joseph's Health Centre

Are you interested in participating?
